NEWSPAPER HISTORY

The Rockland Gazette was established in 1846. In 1854 the Gazette was established, and consolidated with the Gazette in 1855. Free Press was established in 1855, and in 1861 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1887.

That which is called considering our duty in a particular case, is very often nothing but endeavoring to explain it away.—Butler.

The big Augusta-Rockland automobile with its capacity for 11 passengers, was unequal to the demand Tuesday and two smaller cars were put on as auxiliaries. Should business warrant it, the company will be ready promptly to add another auto to the service. In the meantime it will be wise to secure your seats in advance and save disappointment at the starting hour.

Herbert Knox Smith resigned as commissioner of corporations Tuesday to join the forces of Theodore Roosevelt and the new Progressive party. He will be succeeded in all probability by Luther Constant, Jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y., the present deputy commissioner of corporations, who is described as a distinctly administration exponent. The change became effective on the close of business Thursday.

The 20th annual campmeeting at Verona Park will open Aug. 4, continuing eight days. William C. Whitney of Springfield, Mass., selected speaker and test medium, will be present at all meetings, assisted by other talented speakers including Mrs. R. G. Strout of Bangor, Mrs. J. H. Kane of Portland, and the soloist during all the sessions, assisted by Prof. F. M. Davis of Boston. Monday evening, Aug. 5, there will be one of those public seances which have become very popular with the people. The business meeting and election of officers take place on the following Saturday evening, F. W. Smith, formerly of this city, is secretary of the Association.

If sentiment is worth anything, William T. Haines will be elected governor of Maine by 10,000 majority. This is the feeling of prominent men in various parts of the state, as reported by four prominent Republicans of Skowhegan who toured through Somerset, Kennebec and Franklin counties and they found that the sentiment, even in Kennebec county, is strongly against Plaisted and the whole Democratic administration. In making the investigation through the three counties mentioned, the party took pains to find out the strength of Hon. E. C. Burleigh, and the report was most encouraging. The chairman of the various town and county committees stated that there was nothing but Burleigh sentiment throughout the counties.

A recent Portland Press had the following interesting paragraph concerning the lobster situation and a well-known "snackman": "Rockland has all the lobsters it wants, but the dealers of Portland are ready and willing to take a few of the surplus ones. Capt. Brainerd R. Simmons of the Lime city was in Portland Monday placing orders for some of the shellfish. The N. F. Treithen Co. ordered 5000 which will be brought up at once by Capt. Simmons in the schooner Hilda Emma. She is an able smack fitted with a 25 horse power engine which is capable of sending her through the water at seven knots an hour. It is possible still more of the Rockland lobsters will be brought here for the Rockland dealers say they have all they want."

It is easy to get confused on matters of local history. Two Main street merchants have fallen into dispute as to the year in which the Fourth Maine Regiment went to the front. Calling upon boyhood memory one set the year as 1861, the other 1862. The Courier-Gazette's war-time recollections, running in these columns the past year or more, ought to settle such contentions. News of the firing on Fort Sumter reached Rockland April 17, 1861. A week later the first public meeting was held and enlistments rapidly followed. May 16 the various companies comprising the Fourth regiment went into camp on Middle street heights ("Camp Knox") which they left on June 17, embarking by steamer Daniel Webster enroute for the South. To those who out of childhood recollection call up the stirring scenes of that summer of '61 it causes a feeling of surprise to note that the camp experiences of the regiment covered only a brief month. The feeling is that the camps were pitched on the hill all that summer.

BABIES IN FRANCE

The Technical Difficulties Involved in the Acts of Adopting a Child of 'Em in That Land of Officialdom

(Rollin Lynde Hart's Paris Letter in the Boston Transcript)

There was hilarity in Boston when Governor Foss invited the Legislature to regulate aviation, but they take that sort of thing seriously over here. They mean to fortify themselves against all possible contingencies and surprises. They legislate for the sky, and manage to keep a straight face, even when apparently fantastic hypotheses are brought forward. For instance, here is the International Congress of Aerial Jurisprudence solemnly debating the question: "If a baby is born in the sky, where must the birth be registered?" The prevailing idea seems to be that the airship must descend at once, and report the birth at the nearest town.

By no means a purely academic question, this. A few years ago a baby was born in a balloon. Since then, air travel has increased enormously. The other day a German dirigible sailed 425 miles without stopping. In Paris, all manner of air craft announce their presence in all manner of ways. One sees drays marked "Transports of Aeroplanes." Dealers in "connections for men" advertise aviation togs. Every little while a balloon floats over the city—sometimes whole flocks of balloons.

On fine days a large dirigible, with its many masts and cables, is seen in the sky. Any afternoon one may perch on the "fortis" and watch the Issy-les-Moulineux aeroplanes. Random walks through the suburbs reveal revealing the extent of the airship business. At Puteaux an immense sign "Zodiac" shows where dirigibles are built. Out at Neuilly the other morning I noticed a van laden with the hugest of packing-boxes. From the top of the box protruded what resembled the wings of a monoplane.

On another track, just ahead, I saw the monoplane's body. The trucks had stopped in front of a large house on whose front appeared the legend, "Researches Aeronautic, L. Bleriot." So Parisians find nothing comical in laws for the sky. They are especially grave when you mention airship births and discuss where to register them. It is not because they set such great store by vital statistics. It is because of the army. Annual government goes back to the list of boys born twenty-one years previously, and reminds them of their "service militaire." Hence the passionate interest with which the Etat-Civil registers each new inhabitant and keeps an eye on him ever after. Moreover, every French baby desires to be registered. The little rascal looks ahead. He foresees countless emergencies where only a birth-certificate can save the day. For officialdom is fussy over here. When you ask anything of the French Government or of a French municipality, you must prove that you are you. You must prove it by brandishing documents, chief of which is your birth certificate.

What a careless set we are, yonder in "the States!" Take your own case. Do you possess a birth certificate? If so, where is it? For matter of fact, where is your high-school diploma, or your academic sheepskin, or your certificate of marriage? And who in "the States" cares where they are? You can trot through life without them. If you choose you can write yourself up for "Who's Who" in terms there is nothing to substantiate. You can clip ten years off your age, suppress your early marriages and help yourself to quantities of learned degrees. Equally off-hand are your dealings with the State, which takes you at your word, or, if it demands witnesses, never bothers to make the witnesses prove who they are. In France all this is different. Bring your papers along—or at least a passport—for you may suddenly want favors.

Last September an American lady, mother of a charming imp, took it into her head to matriculate him at the Lycee Henri IV., around the corner from our pension. She furnished him with a black pinafore, a slate, and instructions not to bite the French imps, and started him off. Back he came, like a shot. Madame la Matresse had asked for his birth certificate, and there was nothing to show that he had ever been born.

Not long ago, two Americans set out to get married in Paris, little realizing the red-tape with which orange-flowers are tied up in double how-knots. Married they were, but not until seven New York lawyers had toiled three weeks procuring the necessary documents.

A more harrowing instance was that of an estimable Englishman who sought to marry a Parisienne of Swiss birth. Three nations ached all

Best Ever For Cramps

Pains, colds, chills, stomach and bowels, ills incidental to heat, travel or food is Sanford's Ginger

A delicious combination of ginger, aromatic and French brandy. Look for the Owl Trade Mark on the wrapper, lest you get a cheap, worthless or dangerous substitute. Forty years the standard of purity, flavor and strength. Sold by all druggists and grocers.

over before the ceremonies were allowed to begin, and even then the pair had a narrow escape. At the last moment a few square inches of official paper were seen to be wanting. Matters came to a standstill, bride gasping, groom cursing between his teeth. Thanks to a big dragon, who galloped from one end of Paris to the other and back, to fetch the precious square inches, the marriage contrived to pull through. "Sauve, mon Dieu!"

At present, I am watching the manoeuvres of an American who has possessed himself of a beautiful souvenir de Paris in the person of a French orphan baby. That all things might be done decently and in order, he wrote to Monsieur le Procureur de la Republique, asking rights of guardianship and enclosing the infant's birth certificate. This seemed sufficient, and he said to himself, "Voilà l'affaire!" Oh, hardly.

There arrived an inspector from the Surete, who wrote down the American's name, his profession, his age, his place of birth, his occupation, his French address, his American address, the place and date of his marriage, the name of his wife, the names of his father and mother, the names of his wife's father and mother, and the name of the proposed vice-guardian. At this point, it was permitted to sit back and draw a long breath.

Then came the serious part. The American must prove his identity. He said he could produce Parisians who had known him seven years, and that his name was in his watch and on his clothing and attached to his correspondence. He said he kept his funds in a French bank and had been thoroughly identified there. He said he was known at the American consulate and that the American embassy would go sponsor for him. But, as he had neither birth certificate nor marriage certificate, the provision went for nothing.

Consequently, he has ordered his attorney in America to ship him all possible credentials, every one of them signed, countersigned, indorsed, rubber-stamped, and covered on both sides with every known variety of American bald eagle, to say nothing of stars and stripes and red sealing-wax and almighty dollar signs. He insists that the documents shall be written on red-white-and-blue stationery, with the embossed motto "Time is money," so there can be no doubt as to what country they came from. Presumably, he credits his lawyer with a sense of fun, but in these matters one cannot be too exacting.

Now, when the Third Republic sets about handing over a French infant to foreigners, I appreciate that the business should be gone at circumpectly. I as fully admire the caution these French officials display when foreigners insist on being married under French law. I admit that an American imp, seeking admission to the Lycee Henri IV., should first convince Madame la Matresse that he has been born. I can even understand why a nation that maintains a huge conscript army may well take steps to prevent young gentlemen from dodging military service by being born in the sky and not getting registered.

So far, so good. This provision of red tape in advance of the emergency bespeaks wisdom; but I fear that it also bespeaks a love of red tape for its own sake and for the jobs it creates. Behold the blessed consequence! At the Etat-Civil, a new department, with fifteen new functionaries sitting at desks labelled "Naissances Aerieennes." At the Surete, forty new inspectors, to make personal visits to every individual in any way interested in each sky baby and obtain their biographies and credentials. At the mairie a hundred and twenty new clerks, to copy the biographies and credentials by hand, glue them into scrap-books, and index the scrap-books. Finally, thirty ambulatory watchers and snoopers, who see that the whole process is carried out, and write long daily reports on paper timbre to Monsieur le Ministre, who employs nine new officials to countersign the reports. In all, 214 new names on the payroll.

Payrolls have been padded in America. They have been padded with dead men, men who have never lived, and the same man seven times over. They order these things better in France. They pad a payroll with live functionaries, till the number of them has become a burden and a horror and somewhat of a scandal. French people will tell you that the functionaries loaf, but I think the charge unfair. Whenever I approach him, I find him buried in work. The shame of it is, too much of the work is unnecessary and has been done for the purpose of employing another functionary and to that extent influencing votes.

There are Royalists and Bonapartists in France, and this is one of the reasons. Frenchmen look back to the Monarchy and the Empire, and recall how vastly less serious in those days was the weight of taxation. They appreciate that it might be cheaper to support a single family in splendor than unnumbered cohorts of functionaries in dowdiness.

Professor Brander Matthews at a literary dinner in New York said of a certain "best seller": "The grammar is rather off. Its author lies open to the rebuke meted out to a Philadelphia author in the last century. This author had been slashed in a review and he wrote to the reviewer and challenged him to a duel. But the reviewer wrote back: 'I have read your letter. It is as wretched as your book. You have called me out. Very well, I choose grammar. You are a dead man.'"

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

Old-fashioned poetry, but choicely good.

—Isaac Walton.

The Bells of San Blas
What say the bells of San Blas
To the ships that southward pass
From the city of San Blas?
To them it is nothing more
Than the sound of surf on the shore,
Nothing more to master or man.
But to me, a dreamer of dreams,
To whom what is and what seems
Are often one and the same,
The bells of San Blas to me
Have a strange, wild melody,
And are something to master or man.

For bells are the voice of the Church;
They have tones that touch and search
The hearts of young and old;
One sound to all, yet each
Lends a meaning to their speech,
And the meaning is manifold.
They are a voice of the past,
Of an age that is fading fast;
Of a power austere and grand;
When the flag of Spain unfurled
Its folds o'er this Western world,
And the priest was lord of the land.

The chapel that once looked down
On the little seaport town
Has crumbled into the dust;
And on oaken beams below
The bells swing to and fro
And are green with mould and rust.
"Is, then, the old faith dead?"
They say, "and in its stead
Is some new faith proclaimed,
That we are forced to remain
Naked to sun and rain,
Unsheltered and ashamed?"

"Once in our tower aloof
We rang over wall and roof
Our warnings and our complaints;
And round about us there
The white doves filled the air,
Like the white souls of the saints.
"The saints! Ah, have they grown Forgetful of their own?"
Are they asleep, or dead,
That open to the sky
Their ruined minarets lie,
No longer haunted?"

"Oh, bring us back once more
The vanished days of yore,
When the wind with faith was filled;
Bring back the fervid zeal
The hearts of fire and steel,
The hands that believe and build.
"Then from our tower again
We will send over land and main
Our voices of command.
Like exiled kings who return
To their thrones, and the people learn
That the priest is lord of the land!"
O bells of San Blas, in vain
Ye call back the past again!
The past is dead to your prayer;
Out of the shadows of night
The world rolls into light;
It is daybreak everywhere.

A note in the Cambridge edition of Mr. Longfellow's Poems says that the above was the last poem penned by the author. It was suggested by a just read poem in Harper's Magazine. The last stanza but one is dated March 12, 1882. The last verse was added March 15, 1882. Mr. Longfellow died March 24, 1882.

Ledgers recently discovered at Potosi, Spain, contain interesting facts concerning the outfit made by Christopher Columbus on his expedition to the New World. The armament of the little fleet cost 14,000 pesetas. The personal expenses of Columbus and his officers were about 2,000 pesetas, and six pesetas a month sufficed for the crew, so that 22,050 pesetas, or about $4,400 were spent for the eight months that the voyage lasted. The sum total for the discovery of America, therefore, was 36,000 pesetas or about $7,200. When as schoolboys we used to read that Queen Isabella pawned her jewels to provide funds for the expedition, the queenly performance quite took our breath away, it seemed so prodigious. The queen of Spain today would need that $7,200 to buy her automobile.

Whenever we gaze upon that gritty looking open space in Tillson Avenue, and reflect that by the expenditure of a hundred dollars or less it might have been made joyous with shrubs and growing things, a spot of beauty, we confess to a feeling of sorrow that our city cannot be visited often by some touches of ornamentation.

Wyoming Was a Wonder

Designed for 20.5 Knots She Made 22.045 on Friday's Trial—A Splendid Spectacle.

The trial of the battleship Wyoming, which was in progress when The Courier-Gazette went to press Friday forenoon, resulted in a distinct triumph for that craft, her fastest mile being made at the rate of 22.045 knots an hour. The Arkansas, which is an exact duplicate of the Wyoming, fell considerably short of this speed, her fastest mile being at the rate of 21.493 knots.

The same ratio of superiority extended to the five top speed runs, during which the Wyoming averaged 21.323. The Arkansas on similar runs averaged 21.153.

President Grove of William Cramp & Sons told The Courier-Gazette reporter at the conclusion of Friday's trial that the Wyoming would have probably made an even better showing but for the dissension among the men in the fire rooms, which resulted in the steam power suddenly falling after the third of the five high-speed runs had been made.

The propeller revolutions on the fastest mile reached a maximum of 333.61 per minute, and the trial demonstrated the fact that contract speed of 20½ knots an hour could be made on the basis of 280.2 turns per minute.

The ship made a fine spectacle on her speed runs Friday afternoon as she ploughed through the choppy sea throwing immense clouds of black smoke from her funnels. Members of the summer colonies scattered along the coast watched the runs with absorbing interest, and it is barely possible that a few of the calloused natives emerged from their armor of indifference long enough to take a peep. Over at the Samoset the 200 or more guests had a splendid view from the verandahs, and were so delighted with the event that Manager Hodgdon has put in a requisition for a similar trial each season. As Mr. Hodgdon always gets what he asks for the guests are abundantly satisfied with the prospect.

There were not many Samoset guests on the verandahs when the Wyoming departed, for that craft weighed anchor at 4 a. m. and was speeding down the coast on the remainder of her builders' acceptance trials before the barnyard orchestra had tuned up.

There is considerable interest in the Wyoming's 4-hour endurance run. In order to beat the Arkansas she was obliged to average 21.051 knots an hour.

According to British records two battleships of the 12-inch gun type have exceeded the Wyoming's speed. The Neptune did 22.7 knots. The Colossus did 22.6 knots. But they were designed to make 21 knots, while the Wyoming was designed for 20½.

MACFARLAND'S AFFINITY
Florence Bromley to be Bride of Alleged Wife-Poisoner if He Escapes Electric Chair.

Florence Bromley, who figured as the "affinity" in the case of Allison M. MacFarland, formerly of Rockland, to whom a new trial was granted after his conviction for the murder of his wife, at Newark, will figure in the defence when MacFarland is again put on trial for his life.

Now that MacFarland has another chance to escape the electric chair, she has promised his counsel, Frank M. McDermitt, that she will do everything in her power, irrespective of her own sensibilities, to bring about the acquittal of the man to whom she poured out her love so prodigally in the letters which afterward formed the chief weapons of the prosecution in the case.

If, as he and his counsel believe, the next trial results in the freeing of MacFarland, he will make Miss Bromley his bride.

MacFarland, who has been confined to the "death house" at the state prison, at Trenton, since he was sentenced to die in the chair, will be taken back to Newark today and placed in charge of the sheriff of Essex county again to await trial. An effort may be made to obtain his release on bail, but this will be vigorously opposed by Prosecutor Mott.

DR. LENTE'S HONORS
Harry H. Lente graduated with high honors from Bowdoin medical college June 20, achieving the degree of M. D. Dr. Lente was especially honored by being selected as assistant to Dr. Hayes in the territory covering 160 miles along the Canadian Pacific R. R. Dr. Thayer, dean of the Bowdoin medical school, selected Dr. Lente from several young graduates and it comes as a distinct honor to him. His station is Brownville, Maine. He entered upon his duties June 20.

EMPIRE THEATRE

"The Dead Man's Child" Keeps Audience Applauding—Baseball Heroes in Comedy.

Yesterday opened another remarkable bill of new features at the Empire Theatre. The great three-reel feature picture "The Dead Man's Child" as the headline attraction, which made a big hit with the audience at all three shows. This is a great detective story dealing with persecution and injustice. The great struggle on the platform of the fast moving express train is one of the most exciting features ever shown in pictures. This great production is elaborately staged and acted by some of the best actors plying for moving pictures plays, and should be seen by all today.

In the comedy line the big feature "The Baseball Bug," showing big Jack Rembs, Chief Bender, Cy Morgan of the Athletics, is a feature every baseball sport should see. Wednesday the Bison western feature "The Post Telegraph," the greatest of all big western features, in two big reels, with the headline with three other big new features. Take the children. A big treat for all at the Empire.

NORTH HAVEN

Mrs. Sarah Carver's 71st birthday anniversary will long be remembered by all present at the surprise party given in her honor at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. O. Brown. Each of the guests on entering presented her with a bouquet of red and white roses and ferns. She also received several gifts. Poems composed for the occasion by some of the guests were read, followed by several phonographic selections. Then followed a duet by Miss Frances Littlehale and Miss Vonie Brown. Then "Silver Threads Among the Gold" was sung by Mrs. E. L. Whitte and Mrs. William Poole. Last on the program was a piano duet by Misses Vonie and Doris Brown. Refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake and candies were served. Those present were Miss Frances Littlehale, Boston; Mrs. E. L. Whiting, Lynn; Mr. and Mrs. William Poole, Cambridge; Hazel Crandal, Lynn; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Duncan, Miss Foster's Duncan and James and Alton Lewis of North Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Pringle of Milo are spending a few weeks at the Staples cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway and Miss Emma Mills of Boston are at the cottage at Pulpit Harbor for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Frost of Plymouth have moved into their new bungalow.

Janet Smith of Boston is visiting Miss Grace Leadbetter.

Mrs. Jessima Brown of Wenham, Mass., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ella Ames. Miss Lucy Brown is also her guest.

Mr. W. W. Warren is a guest of Miss Carrie Lermond.

Hiram Stone has caught over a hundred small mackerel in his weir the last two days.

ROCKLAND THEATRE

See the show last night at Rockland Theatre? If not, you don't know what you are missing. It is one of the best bills we have seen. Rosenberg has presented this season and they have had some mighty good ones. Twelve hundred persons attended last night, and came away with the very comfortable conviction that they got their money's worth.

The excellent orchestra with a new violinist, gave a fine concert. The vaudeville was well worth while—the kind which sends you from the theatre with a clean taste in your mouth.

One of the good things on the bill is the "Heidelberg Four," singers who really know how to sing. The four big voices blend in perfect harmony, and they know the difference between a mild flavoring of high-class comedy and the usual slapstick buffoonery in which most male quartets indulge. The audience was delighted with their work and time and time again. No better quartet was ever heard here in vaudeville.

Claude Golding and Clara Keating, a unique pair of Australian singers and dancers. They have a lot of dances and songs that are distinctive and give a fair idea of the kind of fun an Englishman likes.

How Washington Crossed the Delaware is the big feature picture for tonight.

HOPE
Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Nichols and son Ben and friend of Woburn, Mass., are at their summer home.

Mrs. Alice (Cole) Kleene and son Stephen of Hartford, Conn., are spending their vacation at Mrs. Kleene's old home.

Good fall weather.

The Universalist Mission Circle will picnic at Oakland Park Wednesday.

Work at the Rockland Granite Co.'s stoneyard was resumed yesterday.

At Oakland Park Wednesday night the Camden Band will give another one of those popular mid-week band concerts.

Edward Payson, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, at Knox hospital, has returned to his home in Warren.

Wm. E. Achorn, who recently bought the William McLaughlin house on Granite street, will move there in September.

The Eastern Steamship Corporation announces that it has entered upon its series of Sunday trips on the Boston & Bangor division. Great accommodation to many patrons.

The numerous Sunday events planned for Ginn's Point were postponed on account of unfavorable weather. The band concert at Oakland Park shared the same fate. "Twas a dull day all around."

Frank Hatch, a former Rockland boy, who now resides with his mother, Mrs. Hatch, in Sanford, came into some prominence there during the Fourth of July celebration, when he drove the automobile which won the prize in the floral parade.

In spite of the inclement weather Sunday the dining room of the Crescent Beach House was crowded. Automobile parties came from various sections of the state and the air was filled with the hum of the broadened as he saw new pages of the register being filled.

The following interesting item appeared in the State Chat of Saturday's Lewiston Journal: "Captain J. H. Tryon, of Alaska, navigator of the Zeigler polar expedition, is a guest at Harpswell. Capt. Tryon is a man of great physical prowess, immensely fond of boating and all sorts of salt water diversions, and an enthusiastic fisherman."

The Downing Stock Company passed through Rockland last Thursday evening enroute for Boston, where it has an engagement for the summer. The members stopped at the Hotel Savoy for their supper. Mr. Ellwood had his eggs cooked one on one side and the other on the other. The last seen of John Walsh he was going through the door with a squash pie like mother used to make under his arm.

Ensign Helen Corbett, officer in charge of the local Salvation Army Corps, is having much responsibility on her shoulders this week, making preparations for the Provincial Band boys, and she is wondering whether the friends of the Army would like to lighten the burden by donating food for the boys. The Ensign is serving meals for the three days for the boys, and any donation of doughnuts, cakes, pies, vegetables, etc., will be gladly accepted by the Ensign. Kindly send your card to her at 8 Grove street, and someone will call.

During the presentation of the big feature picture "The Coming of Columbus" at Rockland Theatre, Friday and Saturday, Manager Rosenberg has been urged to have a few reserved seats, so as to accommodate those who cannot get to the theatre early. He has therefore concluded to do so in order to please his patrons, and wishes to make this announcement to avoid misunderstandings. Prices will be as usual, 15c and 20c, with a limited number reserved at 20 cents. Those wishing to secure reserved seats must telephone or call Thursday before 6.30.

—Ground Floor—

George Allen England Socialist candidate for Governor will speak in Postoffice Square next Monday night.

Patrolman Fields is having his annual vacation. The day he is being looked after by Special Officer Fernald.

The Woman's Association will hold its monthly meeting in the parlors of the First Baptist church Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Miss Ellen McCoy, formerly night operator at the Western Union telegraph office, is now in charge of a summer office at Rye Beach, N. H. She is succeeded here by John Reardon, and Miss Frances Haley has been added to the staff.

Lindsey Brook, between the new culvert on Union street and Main street has been in the hands of civil engineers the past week. It is the administration plan to widen this stream and provide it with concrete bottom and sides this season. Another year it will be covered.

A small tract of land, properly cultivated, will yield excellent financial results. We have in mind John Simpson's strawberry patch, 25x37 feet, on Rankin street, from which he had gathered 103 round baskets of luscious berries up to July 19. Why let good garden land lie idle?

C. E. Bicknell has the contract for laying the new marble floor in the court house, and the materials are on the spot. The Republicans of Maine rebuilt the state capitol building, and it is only fair that the Democrats of Knox county should get the court house ready for Republican occupancy on Jan. 1st, 1914.

President Black of the Rockland, South Thomaston & St. George Railway announces that he will entertain the poor children of the city at Ginn's Point some day during the week of August 5. Special cars will convey the youngsters to their destination, and a band concert and other features will be provided for them there. Ensign Corbett of the Salvation Army is compiling the list.

Charles H. Achorn is exceedingly proud of his new two-story candy turnover constructed according to his order and just delivered by the builders. It is painted in striking colors and built upon honor throughout, having roomy apartments for the various goods manufactured by the well known firm of St. Clair & Allen. He will doubtless receive many congratulations from county patrons upon his fine appearance.

The Galilee Temple lawn society was a pleasing event last Thursday evening. Chinese lanterns added much to the attractiveness of the grounds. The orchestra was composed of Dr. and Mrs. Luce, with cornet and violin, and Elston and Bertha Luce who did finely with piano and trombone. The ladies are grateful for their services. The sum of $18 was raised, to be divided between the church and the Sunshine Society.

The members of the local Salvation Army Corps are hustling for dear life in order to make the few days' meetings at Oakland Park a success. The Army in Rockland has been growing steadily. Much work has been accomplished with good results. It is not their meetings on the street, or meetings inside the local Corps. The Army in Rockland has been growing steadily. Much work has been accomplished with good results. It is not their meetings on the street, or meetings inside the local Corps. The Army in Rockland has been growing steadily. Much work has been accomplished with good results. It is not their meetings on the street, or meetings inside the local Corps.

Joseph Pollock and Samuel Cohen pick up a nice little dollar when the warships come here for trial, through the medium of what is known as "bumboating." In other words they visit each ship twice a day during its stay here, carrying a large assortment of newspapers, souvenir postcards, tobacco and cigars. They have learned by several years' experience to know exactly what the sailors want most, and cater to the trade with a skill worthy of a trained merchant. In one week they cleared about $30, but it meant long hours, hard work and unceasing vigilance. Messrs. Cohen and Pollock are both members of the Naval Reserves and this has added them not a little in learning the ropes.

The advertising car of Howe's Great London Shows was here Friday, and with the gentlemanly representative of that circus, Joseph G. Harwood. The Great London Shows are booked for here Aug. 2, one week from next Friday. While the Glasgow World Famous $25,000 Prize Winning Horses are the great feature of the regular line of circus acts is fully up to the standard set by the Howe Circus in the past. The Bartik Parisian troupe, are seen for the first time in America, the original Zanfretta Family are among the big acts; Marie Moore, the dancing girl, the Riding Lowlands; the Brono troupe of acrobats have no peers. The Kentucky High School horses are seen only with this show. The clowns are funny, the gymnasts clever, the elephants numerous and the menagerie is large. A free street parade of great length and beauty will be given.

SOUTH DEER ISLE

Mr. and Mrs. Galen Hatch, who have been visiting Mr. Hatch's mother for a few days, returned home Monday.

Mrs. Addie B. Allen went to Winter Harbor Wednesday to visit her sister.

The Misses Isabelle and Nellie Walker and Miss Fossie Seckins are at Winthrop Beach, Mass., for the summer.

Mrs. Melissa Robbins has opened her cottage for the summer months.

Charles Judkins of Dorchester spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Judkins.

Mrs. Hattie Brown and Mrs. Louise Bryant were in Rockland last Saturday.

Mrs. Anthony Bye was in Rockland recently.

Mr. Hendrick, who is employed by the Maine Central R. R. in Portland, visited his parents a few days recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Seckins of Belfast, who have been visiting their son, W. N. Seckins, returned home last week.

You will find the best ice cream of all delicious flavors at J. H. Meserve's, Rankin block.

The First Baptist Church Association will hold a cooked food sale at 4 H. Cric & Co.'s store Friday afternoon, July 26.

Block 11 of the Universalist church announces that on Wednesday, July 31, at the home of Mrs. D. M. Murphy, Union street, there will be a sale of novelties, fancy work, aprons, kitchen aprons, cake, pastry, cookies and doughnuts. Punch will be served. The sale lasts from 2 to 8.30 p. m.

The Old Orchard excursion found 250 patrons on the Knox & Lincoln division, most of them from Rockland.

Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Ufford are to entertain friends at Cridgen this evening, one of Mr. Ufford's illustrated lectures being the attraction.

Charles Robinson has resumed his position at Burpee & Lamb's after a fortnight's vacation. Alfred Keyes is now out of the store on his vacation.

George F. Crocker left this morning to join the forest fire patrol in Northern Maine. He will probably have an assignment on the Allegash.

H. R. Mullen is having his vacation from E. R. Speyer & Co.'s store. He will probably spend it in Rockland, though he is often seen boarding the Camden car. Harry Keating is substituting in the store.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Peter's church are invited to spend the day Wednesday, with Miss Jennie Phillips at Owl's Head. Take the Crescent Beach car at Park street at a quarter before ten. Each member will take a bowl and spoon.

C. W. Robbins of Old Town was in the city yesterday on business pertaining to the 18th annual tour of the John A. Robbins party, styled "From Niagara to the Sea." This party, composed of 12 persons, is the finest in the country—leaves Bangor Aug. 12.

Wreckers who are attempting to float the steamship Carolyn, ashore on the island of Metinic, are nearly ready for the supreme test. Lots of preparatory work has been done there in the last month, and the men in charge are very confident that the big craft will again see service.

Although Rockland has several fine boats, which have about all the business they can attend to the year around, a large amount of loaf bread is shipped here by express every day. It comes from Cambridgeport, Mass., and is handled by quite a number of local dealers. Probably you have eaten lots of imported bread this summer without knowing the fact.

Cobb, Butler & Co. are building a large store on the new light for Roy Beattie, Inc., of Fall River. It will be 108 feet long and 40 feet wide, draws 10 feet forward and 9 feet aft, and will be equipped with an A frame having roomy apartments for the house for the engine. It's deck carrying capacity will be 600 tons of stone. The lighter will probably be ready for delivery in September.

Sunday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Ritchie, 12 Loring street, Lowell, Mass., Miss Octavia H. daughter of the late Joel and Lorraine F. Martin passed away, at the age of 52. Her remains will arrive on the 4 p. m. train this afternoon and will be taken to once at Achorn cemetery to be laid at rest in the family lot. Mrs. Ritchie, with whom she has resided since the death of her mother, will accompany the remains.

An interesting hearing in progress at Probate Court concerns the attempted reopening of Hon. J. E. Moore's account as guardian of Albert, son of John A. Thompson. A large amount of documentary evidence was introduced yesterday. Norman L. Bassett of Augusta and Alan L. Bird appear for Mr. Gould, while A. S. Littlefield and R. L. Thompson appear for Mr. Moore. The hearing will probably last through today and tomorrow.

Baseball fans have a good feast ahead this week, beginning with today's game at Oakland between the Rockland and the Camden teams in the Knox Trolley League. Thomaston and Rockland (Triangular League) play at Crescent Beach. Thursday, Camp Durrell and Rockland (Triangular League) play at Crescent Beach. Friday is the day set apart for the business men's game at Oakland Park. Saturday there will be two games: Thomaston vs. the Camden team in the Trolley League, and the Triangular League, and Rockland vs. M. C. A. at Camden. It's a good sport and the season's a short one, so take in all the games you can.

APPLETON

Mrs. Elizabeth Newbert has preserved about 500 quarts of wild strawberries this season for her brother, R. A. Gushee, proprietor of Hotel Camden, New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barker of Salem, Mass., are at their summer home here.

Miss Theresa Tobey of Augusta is visiting her aunts, Misses Gertrude and Ethel Moody.

Mrs. Jennie Schermerhorn and three children of Waltham, Mass., are spending several weeks in town. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Esency of Burkettsville spent Sunday with David Esency.

Mrs. A. A. Gushee is visiting relatives in Lincolnville.

G. H. Pope has arrived home from a visit with his daughter, Mrs. George Ripley, in Bath.

The rains of late have given the crops a great lift, but have retarded the hay makers. Some have finished haying while many have not yet commenced.

The Sunday schools in the North Knox district will unite in a picnic Tuesday Aug. 12, on the eastern shore of Senebec pond. A cordial invitation is extended from the Appleton school for all to be present and help to make the day one which the children will long remember. If stormy postponed until the next fair day.

Do not miss the music festival by two bands at Oakland Park next Sunday afternoon.

One of the features at Rockland Theatre for tomorrow night will be a fifteen minute concert given by the Rockland Theatre orchestra, previous to the boxing match.

The grand opening of Ginn's Point to the public was again postponed last Sunday on account of the bad storm. Next Sunday the management not only intend to have the full program as arranged for last week, but additional amusements also. The public grove as arranged with its seats and swings is one of the prettiest spots on the Maine coast. Boats can now be hired, and it is expected that boating at Ginn's Point will be a popular feature before the summer is over. Ginn Point store will be open every afternoon during the remainder of the season for the accommodation of picnic parties. The beaches have been cleared up and make an admirable place for the children to play. Street Railway to make Ginn's Point as attractive as possible in every way to the public.

Good Meals at Camp Comfort

The boys at Camp Comfort are using the same stove that they had last year. It was the best they could get. A New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

This year they got a New Perfection Oven Also a New Perfection Toaster Also a New Perfection Broiler

"Gee, what a difference in the meals a good stove makes," said one of the boys. So they called their shack "Camp Comfort." And they will tell their mothers and wives about the stove, too. For the New Perfection Oil Cook-stove is as convenient for the home as for the camp. It will bake, broil, roast and toast as well as a regular coal range.

RED CROSS SEALS

Design This Year Is Best of Its Kind—Thirty-Two Million Sold Last Year.

Seventy-five million Red Cross seals are now being printed for the holiday sale of these anti-tuberculosis stickers in 1912.

The seal this year is said to be the best of its kind that the Red Cross has ever issued. The design is in three colors, red, green and gray. A Santa Claus head in the three colors is shown in the center surrounded by holly wreaths. In each corner is a small red cross. The seal bears the greeting "Merry Christmas, Happy New Year, American Red Cross, 1912."

The campaign for selling Red Cross Seals will be carried on in practically every state and territory in the United States, and even in Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, Hawaii and Philippine Islands. No less than 100,000 volunteer agents, including department, drug and other kinds of stores, motion picture theatres, individuals, and others, will be engaged in the work. Before the sale is completed, it is expected that at least 100,000,000 seals will have been printed and distributed, besides several million posters, display cards and other forms of advertising literature.

Last year over 32,000,000 seals were sold; in 1910, over 31,000,000; in 1909, about 23,000,000; and in 1908, 19,000,000 of the sale only 13,500,000. In all, the sale in the four years has realized nearly $1,000,000 for the anti-tuberculosis campaign.

WHEN YOUR HAIR BRUSHES OUT Your hair is as sensitive as your skin—even more so. It stands up under heavy hats, curling irons, and diseases of the scalp. But there is a limit.

When you comb and brush your hair in the morning, watch for the "TRAILERS" that turn grey, fall out, and comb out with the first morning brush.

You MUST know that there's something wrong. If your hair was in good health, it wouldn't fall out, nature never intended that. There is something wrong at the root of things—the hair needs a tonic-a restorer.

When you are sick you take medicine. That is your first thought. When your hair falls out, are both ways the hair has of "complaining of illness." It can't do it in any other way.—Do YOUR part. Use HAY'S HAIR HEALTH

As time goes on humanity exhibits an ever decreasing interest in the theories about God that are not helpful and practical. This tendency has been deplored by the churches as indicating a loss of interest in religion, but it is not so. It indicates a tremendous desire for a religion that is practical.

An Age of Practical Things The demand for practical things also demands a religion that is practical. People are no longer satisfied with theories about what is to happen in another world. What is desired is a demonstrable religion that saves from present troubles—from sickness, and sin, and failure, and unhappiness, and the countless ills of everyday human experience—and if there is a religion that will do that, it can be safely trusted for the future.

SPOKE AT VINHALHAVEN

Virgil O. Strickler, C. S., Addresses the Island Church Upon the Subject of Christian Science.

A large audience of Vinhalhaven people listened, Thursday evening, to an interesting and instructive lecture delivered by Virgil O. Strickler, C. S., member of the board of trustees of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Mr. Strickler said in part: However much people may differ in their attitude towards Christian Science every one will admit that it has done many good things. Entirely apart from the question of physical healing, it is generally conceded that it produces a happy and contented mentality, that it destroys fear, and makes people loving and kind.

When we add to this the fact that it has healed many sick people who had previously been unable to find relief under other systems, that it has cured many of the drug habit, and of the liquor habit, has restored harmony in many homes that were discordant, and has given hope and courage to people who were discouraged, it is easy to understand why Christian Science has spread from one end of the earth to the other with such wonderful rapidity.

Why should any one not wish to believe that God heals the sick? Is it not a thing to be desired? and is it not something for which humanity has been praying through the centuries? Now that it is here why should any one not wish to accept it? Let each one ask himself that question.

Christian Science shows that sickness and sin originate in mortal mind, and result from the operation of this so-called mind. God did not create them, nor did they result from the operation of spiritual law. In destroying them Jesus did not work contrary to God's laws. Christian Science insists that Jesus was consistent. He did not do the will of the Father at one time, and at another seek to overturn His laws. It follows, then, that if Jesus performed his works in accordance with, and by means of, God's laws the same results must follow in every age when ever those laws are understood and applied. Moses and the prophets, and Jesus and his disciples followed the same law, and the sick raised the dead, and performed many wonderful works by means of this power; and in every age the result of the operation of spiritual law in human consciousness has been to destroy disorder and to establish peace.

What Is Christian Science? Christian Science is a religion. It is the Science of Christianity, the science of God and man. It reveals spiritual law, and explains the operation of that law in its relation to mortal mind and immortal soul. It defines mortal mind and immortal soul, so makes plain the difference between mortal men and man made by God in His image and likeness.

Christian Science pleads for a rational understanding of God, and of mere belief about Him, and it is urging mankind to look for the real causation in Mind and not in matter. It declares that God is not the author of sin, sickness, or death, hence, conditions are illegitimate and can be destroyed by a knowledge of the truth. It denies that there is any divine authority for man to sin, suffer, or die, and that the so-called declaration of the Scripture that God gave man as his birthright dominion over all the earth and over all that it contains is untrue.

Jesus said, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." Christian Science says to the tired and suffering man who is wandering about without any dominion, that the knowledge of the truth will set him free from his bondage to sin, suffering, sorrow, and failure, and will give to him that dominion which God said in the beginning belonged to man.

A correct understanding of God, therefore, is necessary as the foundation of religion. Any system of religious teaching that is founded upon an imperfect or an erroneous conception of God must necessarily fail to bring to the believer the comfort and help that he seeks. When we look around and see the devotion and loyalty of people to their religious beliefs, and when we see how often they fail to realize the benefits for which they seek, it is a fair deduction that there is something wrong about their understanding of God.

The prophet Micah said a man's enemies are they of his own household, and Jesus repeated the statement. I used to understand this meaning to be that a man's enemies were his own kin, but I now realize that a man's enemies are they of his own mental household. The mental guests of thoughts that we entertain in our mental houses are either our friends or our foes. Hatred, fear, self-love, and all evil qualities of thought are enemies that bind man to sickness and death, and man will never be free until he drives out these enemies and makes his consciousness the temple of God.

We are told in Christian Science that fear is an ingredient of every disease, and if fear were entirely destroyed a large number of diseases would go with it. If we could imagine the world with all hatred, fear, superstition, self-will, and self-love destroyed, it is conceivable that longevity would be increased and that happiness and health would be more secure.

If Christian Science had never healed a case of sickness it would still be entitled to lasting praise for compelling this age to recognize the power and influence of thought. Solon related three thousand years ago that as a man "thinks in his heart, so is he." In other words, the quality of the man is determined by the quality of his thought. It is therefore of some importance that man should know the truth, to the end that he may know how to think correctly.

As time goes on humanity exhibits an ever decreasing interest in the theories about God that are not helpful and practical. This tendency has been deplored by the churches as indicating a loss of interest in religion, but it is not so. It indicates a tremendous desire for a religion that is practical.

An Age of Practical Things The demand for practical things also demands a religion that is practical. People are no longer satisfied with theories about what is to happen in another world. What is desired is a demonstrable religion that saves from present troubles—from sickness, and sin, and failure, and unhappiness, and the countless ills of everyday human experience—and if there is a religion that will do that, it can be safely trusted for the future.

same difference between Christian Science and other systems that there is between mathematics and engineering. Mathematics does much good in many ways, but it is not until the rules of mathematics are applied to the physical world that brought out great bridges, railroads, subways, lofty buildings, and other things that are of public utility, and which contribute to the well-being of mankind. So it is only when the teachings of Jesus are understood and applied to human affairs that we see the sick healed, sinners liberated from bondage to evil habits, and other practical things done for the betterment of humanity.

Mrs. Eddy

Many people seem to think that Christian Science is some new thing devised by Mrs. Eddy, but such is not the case. It is defined by its Founder as "The law of God, the law of good, interpreting and demonstrating the divine Principle and rule of universal harmony" (Rudimental Divine Science, p. 1). It was understood and applied in part at least by Moses and the prophets. It is the same principle that was understood and practiced by Jesus, by means of which he performed his works. It is the same principle that he taught to his disciples, and which they in turn taught to their disciples. Whenever it has been understood and applied it has been found to operate as a law of annihilation to sin, disease, and death, and to supersede so-called mortal laws.

When viewed from any point Mrs. Eddy stands as one of the great characters of this age. She has made a discovery in the realm of metaphysics that exerts and must continue to exert a more far-reaching influence upon humanity than any discovery ever made in the physical realm. She has founded a religion that has restored to mankind the spiritual healing as practised by the primitive church. Within the brief space of one generation her teachings have so impressed themselves upon the public that it would be difficult to find a place where there is not a Christian Science church or society, or at least where there are not some Christian Scientists.

Mrs. Eddy has been assailed by critics, but that is not surprising. There has never been a pioneer of new and better things, a leader of thought, who has escaped from criticism or whose ideals have been at once accepted by all. Out of all the criticism and misunderstanding of Christian Science and its Leader and Founder, however, there stands the fact that it has healed a multitude of people. Sooner or later every person will adopt that system of religious teachings which brings the largest measure of help and hope and consolation, and so long as any remain who are suffering from unhappiness or sickness or sin, Christian Science will offer to them a sure means of finding divine help.

ROCKLAND, SO. THOMASTON & ST. GEORGE RAILWAY.

Knox Trolley League

Thomaston Squares Away for the Pennant--Many Features in Saturday's Game at Camden--Other Sports.

Thomaston's victory at Camden Saturday put the former team very much in the pennant race, for if she defeats the Street Railway at Oakland this afternoon three of the four teams in the Knox Trolley League will be tied for first place. In the mind of Captain Gay there has never been any doubt that his team will capture the bunting, while Manager Pearson remains as cool and collected as ever. The standing:

Team	Won	Lost	Per Cent
Street Railway	4	1	.800
Rockland Y.M.C.A.	4	2	.666
Thomaston	2	2	.500
Camden-Rockport	0	6	.000

Orally and physically the game at Camden Saturday afternoon was one of the liveliest of the season. While the score shows a walkover for Thomaston, it was not until the 8th inning that Camden-Rockport's case became definitely hopeless. When that round was over Pitcher Nash had taken the count, and Thomaston had become a real pennant-contender.

There was trouble at the outset over an inoffensive party by the name of Wilson. Thomaston had brought him along as shortstop, but Camden-Rockport protested him on the ground that having played with the Rockland Y.M.C.A. in a recent game he was not eligible to play on Thomaston or any other team until a month had elapsed. Thomaston defended on the ground that Wilson was loaned to Rockland in a game when the latter team was two men short, and for that occasion only, but Manager Berry was obdurate. After the argument had outlasted everybody's patience, Charles Lewis of Boston, who has a summer residence in Thomaston, was impressed into service and sent to first base. Newhall being absent, Henry McDonald was changed to short in place of Wilson, who had been canned.

Technically Camden-Rockport was bagger must not be expected of him. Thomaston scored four runs in the early innings very largely on errors. Camden-Rockport managed to smuggle a run across the plate on Young's hit, and after that there was nothing doing on either side until the 8th.

Black opened this festive inning with a three-bagger, the ball going far over the right fielder's head. The derision of the Camden rooters, which had marked his appearance at the bat, was suddenly changed to a genuine ovation. Day followed with another three-bagger, the ball striking in almost the same spot to which Black had hit. The demoralized home team did not check this onslaught until six runs had been made.

Linnell meantime had been pitching a remarkably strong game holding Camden-Rockport to two singles in seven innings. In the 8th Nash and Wardwell each found him for a triple, while Gould's single drove Wardwell home. In the 9th there was nothing doing on either side.

The home team had a decidedly off day, brightened only by the batting and fielding of Nash and Wardwell. The latter appears to have found that for which Ponce de Leon once vainly sought.

The Thomaston team, barring a chapter or two of execrable base running, played a game that could not fail to be a winner. The one error was most excusable, and was more than offset by the seven chances which Black did accept, to say nothing of his famous triple. Frisbie's one-hand catch while on the dead run was the kind that the fans talk about in winter. Gay's batting was another star feature of the game.

While Camden-Rockport has lost six straight games, it is a team which no one cares to underestimate, and when it strikes its stride it will interfere with somebody's pennant prospects. The score:

Knox county fans will have a chance to see some real baseball this week at Crescent Beach. The strong Thomaston team will line up against Rockland Wednesday afternoon and with Kokes and Linnell on the firing line, this ought to be an exciting contest from start to finish.

Thursday afternoon Rockland will play Camp Durrell at the Beach. The boys from Friendship are anxious to get the trophy offered by the railroad to the winners of the series, and are sure to put up a stubborn fight for this game. Lorraine will probably be the trophy holder by the railroad.

The Rockland lineup will be as follows: Weymouth c, Rokes and Lorraine p, Fuller lf, Henry Alperin 2b, Healey 3b, Lamb ss, Richardson rf, Hyman Alperin cf, Rokes and Lorraine lf.

Joe Thomas, Who Meets Tom Sawyer Tomorrow Night Has Fought Stanley Ketchell, Billy Papke, Frank Mantell and Others.

The sports are eagerly discussing the two six-round bouts which are to be fought in Rockland Theatre tomorrow night by Joe Thomas and Tom Sawyer.

Thomas is coming here in fine condition for the battle as he has been training hard the past two weeks at Diamond Hill, R. I., with his brother-in-law, Jimmy Gardner, who will be in his corner tomorrow night. Tom Sawyer has also been training hard--14 miles of road work every forenoon followed by two hours at bag punching, rope jumping, shadow boxing and other drills that would make sawing wood seem like a real vacation.

The dope is put forth that one of the men will hang the K. O. sign on the other, but we venture no prophecy as to which man will be on his feet while the referee is counting 10.

Quite a number of women are expected to be in the theatre when the show is pulled off, and partly because of this, and in order that the fighters may not be handicapped, smoking will not be permitted.

Sawyer has been promised a bout with Jack Twin Sullivan if he bests Thomas. The two men have met once before and Thomas put Sawyer away in three rounds.

Joe Thomas' record shows that he has been pitted against the most noted middleweights in the country. Thrice he has met Stanley Ketchell. The first fight was a 20-round draw, the second was a victory for Ketchell in 32 rounds and the third was a victory for Ketchell in 20 rounds.

He knocked Terry Martin out in six rounds and defeated Frank Mantell 12 rounds. Billy Papke did not best him until 17 rugged rounds had been fought. Joe's last fight was about a month ago when he lost to Jack Dillon in eight rounds.

The fact that 12 rounds are scheduled for tomorrow night ought to make it more interesting for the sports.

The first preliminary bout begins at 8:15 and the first will be kept moving from that moment.

A POTATO KING'S VIEWS

E. L. Cleveland Tells The Courier-Gazette That Aroostook Crop and Prices Will be Normal—Likes Our Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument—Some Politics.

A normal crop with normal prices. That's how E. L. Cleveland of Houlton sizes up the potato situation in Aroostook county.

When we say E. L. Cleveland we mean, of course, Cleveland, the Potato King.

Thirty-three years ago when he left Camden Mr. Cleveland didn't have a very definite idea as to what the potato meant to Aroostook county, and certainly did not dream how much it was to affect his own destiny. He knew in a general way that spuds were raised there on a generous scale, and he went thither to see what kind of an opening was offered to a young man with a fair share of pluck and ambition.

A third of a century has passed since he set foot in the great garden country which forms the northern part of our state, and it has been a period of increasing prosperity for Mr. Cleveland, who now owns 15 storehouses with a capacity of 750,000 bushels, and has a hundred-acre farm of his own as a sort of side issue.

Seated in the editorial rooms of The Courier-Gazette last Tuesday Mr. Cleveland discussed very briefly and very modestly his own connection with the industry which has done so much to make Aroostook county famous.

"The stand and acreage this year are about up to normal," said Mr. Cleveland. The wet weather of the early spring, deferred planting operations for a week or to days, but since then we have had ideal weather and there is every indication of a good normal crop.

Last year Aroostook county raised 18,000,000 bushels of potatoes, and it proved to be a year of remarkable prosperity, for prices ranged extremely high, the farmers receiving from $3.50 to $4 per barrel.

"Florida has already harvested a large crop and sold it at good prices. The prospects are also for a large crop in the West, but in New Jersey the situation is not quite so favorable."

"I have been up looking at your soldiers' and sailors' monument," said Mr. Cleveland, suddenly changing the subject, "and I want to compliment your committee for the unique and beautiful selection it has made. It is one of the prettiest memorials I have seen anywhere."

Mr. Cleveland's compliment is all the more gratifying in view of the fact that as chairman of the Houlton monument association he

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

A Form of Stomach Trouble That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Are Especially Adapted to Correct.

Mrs. James A. Fletcher, of No. 115 Beech avenue, Macon, Ga., says: "I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People because they restored me to health after suffering five long months with nervous indigestion. While in St. Louis in 1903 I became a nervous wreck caused by what the doctors there called nervous indigestion. I had a peculiar pain in the top of my head that never let me for a single hour and at times I was almost distracted by the pain. My heart would palpitate so that I would sit up in bed for hours with my hand on it. It seemed as though I could not live until morning. I suffered from choking sensations and at times it interfered with my speech. The pain between my shoulders and in my side was intense. I could not digest anything I ate and lived for months on milk, lime water and eggs, and after eating even these I would be in misery and it seemed that I could belch gas for an hour at a time. After taking everything I ever heard of, I was almost prostrated for want of food as he said starving myself was my only chance. I had commenced to despair, when one morning while waiting for my husband to eat breakfast, I noticed a testimonial of a cure by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the paper. I read every word of it and as the case was similar to mine, I decided to try them. With the third box my digestion improved, the palpitation stopped and the pain in my head left. In a month's time I began to eat without distress. I regained my weight and strength, and felt like a new person. I have been a well woman ever since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were originally a prescription used in the doctor's private practice and their benefit to mankind has been increased many thousand fold by their being placed on general sale with the doctor's own directions for use. They contain no opiates or other habit-forming drugs. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

had occasion to give the matter extensive thought and study.

Asked as to the political situation in Aroostook county Mr. Cleveland said:

"Before the Chicago convention most of our Republicans were in favor of Roosevelt, partly because they admired him as a big American who has done big things, and partly because they were opposed to President Taft. Respectively, many of them were disgusted with the attitude that both Taft and Roosevelt assumed during the campaign and would have preferred to see another candidate altogether. Some of them will undoubtedly vote for Wilson."

"Aroostook county will give, as usual, a strong Republican majority. Candidate Haines is well liked up our way, and will have hearty support."

In connection with Mr. Cleveland's views on the potato situation the following from last Tuesday's Bangor News is of interest:

C. E. Embree, who for several months past has been working in the interests of the Maine Department of Agriculture in the organization of the many farmers' exchanges in this state, has received reports of for the Aroostook potato crop, which show very satisfactory conditions. It was reported at the meeting of the Farmers' Union in this city the latter part of June that with 100 men interviewed previous to that meeting, a total increase of 130 acres was announced and he believes that the loss by the excessive moisture of this spring will not be greater on an average than acre apiece. If this proportion throughout the country is kept up, it would indicate that the acreage of the growing crop this season is about the same as last year.

Mr. Embree reports that the condition in Long Island is reported to be very unfavorable to the growers. Their "come up" was fully 95 per cent, and fields were looking finely up to five weeks ago. While there have been innumerable rains on the west end of the island, in Orient and Greenport, the far eastern end of the island there have been but two slight showers in six weeks, while from Manville to Peconic on the main line of the L. I. R. R. and to Amagesset on the Atlantic coast, there has not been a shower for six weeks and some of the early fields have commenced to die down before blossoming.

From information just at hand from the manager of one of the Jersey Farmers' exchanges, Mr. Embree learns that conditions there are a little better than on Long Island. On account of the good crops in the middle and western states Jersey does not expect to ship to the western trade therefore the outlook for the Jersey farmer is not very bright. "All of these reports indicate that the chances of the Maine growers is more favorable," says Mr. Embree.

"It is the general opinion among the Long Island and Jersey farmers that 60 cents, F. O. B., will be the high water mark during the height of the season," he says.

THE AUGUST COMPANION

"What a Girl Expects of a Man," is the subject of a lively article in the August Woman's Home Companion. Another interesting article in the same number is an account of how a girl can earn her way through college—at least partially. The author of the article is a girl who did the very thing she writes about. A feature of considerable importance, as well as interesting, is an account of "The American Girl Out of Doors," in which J. Nilsen Laurvik reports the great development of athletics among women in America, especially in the colleges and boarding schools. The regular departments of the Companion contain a mass of valuable suggestions to housekeepers about household, cooking, fashions and home decoration. Of course, a special point is made of suggestions useful in the summer, specifically with regard to vacation time—the best ways to prepare for vacations and the best ways to enjoy them.

PORGIE FACTORY OPENS

Menhaden Industry Promises Lively Times at Round Pond This Season.

In view of the fact that five menhaden steamers have been built at this port by Cobb, Butler & Co., the following article from Wednesday's Portland Argus concerning that industry will be read with interest:

"Eight big steamers belonging to the Atlantic Oil and Fertilizer Company of New York were at Round Pond Thursday morning with full cargoes of porgies taken within the past few days in Boston Bay. The fish will be taken out at the Round Pond porgie factory, which belongs to the New York concern, and is the only one now operating on the Maine coast in place of the 40 or more which were in existence in the pearly days of the porgie industry in the 70s. Only a few of the fish have been found this season along the Maine coast, but the factory at Round Pond was put in readiness for business which has now started in with a rush. Mr. Thompson, clerk at the factory, was in the city yesterday and chartered the packer schooner Vanguard to take down to Round Pond a load of carboys of acid, large quantities of which are used there every day in the rendering operations.

The fleet of steamers, over 30 in number, belonging to the Atlantic Co., have been doing a heavy business this season, the first catches being made in the vicinity of the Virginia Capes, the fleet following the fish as they gradually worked northward. They have been schooling heavily the past week in Boston Bay, and the catches made around there will be all unloaded at the Round Pond factory instead of being taken to the refineries at Greenport, L. I., and Promised Land, S. C.

"It is expected that by another week large bodies of fish will be found in this vicinity, and the whole fleet of steamers will follow them. During the past winter a large steamer purchased by the Atlantic people last season has been converted into a floating porgie factory, similar in design to the steamer Mills, which was seen here a year ago, and she will be anchored at Round Pond and run in connection with the shore factory. As the fleet will make Portland their base for the purchase of coal and many other supplies quite a little benefit to local business is expected to result from the fishing operations. A large catch of porgies was made last season on the Maine coast, it being the first appearance of the fish in any amount after an absence of many years, and those interested in the business are confident that they will show up in still greater numbers this year."
